Why Digital?

Why Not?

- Photographer is able to instantly review results as photographs are taken, thereby insuring that the customer pays for only the best photographs
- No more concerns about potential film processing problems
- Digital retouching and manipulations are available to correct flaws and achieve special effects
- No degradation in image quality with the passage of time as there is with film
- Able to shoot in low light situations without flash and still achieve acceptable results
- Photos can be sent and received by email anywhere in the world within minutes at no cost (other than your usual Internet access charges)
- A review of the day's events could be shown at the reception using a laptop and digital projector
- A website can easily be created using any of the images

No more film processing hassles

Your wedding photos from DigitalVows.com are yours to do with as you wish - no copyright restrictions!
